fanifesting a Keen Interest in It-A Committee Appointed to Make Arrangements-The Railroads and Steamboat Lines Willing to Help the Project.

In obedience to a call issued in yesterday morning's papers a joint meeting of the cotton exchange and chamber of commerce and citizens was held last night at the exchange. Mr. D. P. Hadden, president of the cotton exchange, called the meeting to order and stated the objects of the meeting, as follows: Various letters have been received from citizens of Arkansas, stating their desire to visit Memphis on an excursion at an early day. This originated the idea of getting up an excursion over the different railroads. This year is peculiarly adapted to the purpose, the health of the city and the prosperity of business warranting the idea. It is expected to get up an excursion on tickets In obedience to a call issued in yesterday perity of business warranting the idea. It is expected to get up an excursion on tickets good for five or ten days, and on some one day to give a display to our visitors. The fire department and military could turn out, and at night a fireworks display might be given. We must do something to attract the outside world again. We have goods, wares and merchandise that must be sold, and we have an immense cotton market. Something should be done to invite people here so we can make acquaintances. It will inspire confidence here and elsewhere. The citizens must do this thing themselves, and the necessary measures to carry out the citizens must do this thing themselves, and the necessary measures to carry out the scheme should be inaugurated. To do it it will take some organization. We will have a fair here this fall, and the people from a distance should be invited here as often as possible. It is better to have a man come here to buy goods than to send men out to seek customers. He believed that railroads and steamboats ought to come down below the half-tickets plan. In other States the railroads and steamboats do not talk about half-ticket rates for excursions, it is always far less than one-half.

The excursion to Memphis over the various railroads was arranged for by the members of the cotton exchange, chamber of commerce and other citizens at a meeting held last night. The excursion will come off early next month. The executive committee has full charge of the matter, and will make publication of all arrangements in due time.

Mr. John S. foof said there were attractions at Cincinnati, Louisville and Nashville in October, so he favored getting up an 'excursion early in September, when they would have plenty of time to pay attention to their visitors. He favored leaving the matter to a committee of seven to manage the affair, selecting the committee from the different branches of business carried on in the city.

Mr. John Losgue, on being called upon, concurred in what had been said by Mr. Toof in favor of an early celebration. We may not be able to compete with other cities, but we can entertain our visitors. He favored placing the entire matter in the hands of a committee of seven or eleven, and he believed the affair would be not only grand, but successful.

Mr. E. Lowenstein concurred in the movement. He believed in going at it in the right way, and spending some money in entertaining guests. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. The following resolution was read by Mr. Secretary Gates, as offered by Mr. John S. Toof, and it was adopted unanimously by the

CHAIRMAN HADDEN'S VIEWS.

Mr. Hadden said he would appoint the committee from the different branches of business. He noped the committee will meet promptly on to-morrow and go to work. Memphis knows how to treat visitors. They have always been well treated here, and we should keep up the good name of Memphis for hospitable treatment of visitors. He did not want editorials written about Memphis as has been written about Chicago. He had met people north who had reft Memphis long ago, and they want to come back. The city has a destiny before her. It is known as the best sewered city in the world. People abroad speak of this, and they speak of the great future of Memphis. There is no reason why we should not receive six hundred thousand or twelve hundred thousand bales of cotton in Memphis annually, we can make a city here that we will be proud of. We certainly can raise as much money as we want for this important celebration. [Applause.] CHAIRMAN HADDEN'S VIEWS. the Cincinnati college of music, arrived at home Sunday last. Guns. A very large assortment of muzzle and breech-loading guns, of direct importation. just received and for sale at very low prices by ORGILL BROTHERS & CO.

The first bale of the season from Panola county, Mississippi, came in yesterday, consigned to Fulmer, Burton & Co. It was shipped by Sledge Bros., of Como, the largest cotton shippers of North Mississippi, and among the best customers of Memphie. They paid fifteen cents per pound for it. This bale classed strict middling, and was the best bale yet received of this year's crop. It was raised by Fed M'Gehee, an industrious colored farmer residing near Como, the man who has for the past three years got the first bale to The Gold-Seekers Admonished. The Gold-Seekers Admonished.

The many thousand adventurous seekers after gold and silver in the far west should meditate upon the fact that in the July drawing of the Louisiana State lottery, Mr. Jacob Rabiner, No. 590 Grand street, New York city, drew one-half of the capital prize, $30,000. Mr. Max Stern, of New York city, drew a similar sum Messrs. N. Israil, H. Oppenheim and B. Rosenblum, of 91 Chrystis street. New York city, drew one-half of Oppenheim and B. Rosenblum, of 91 Chrystis street, New York city, drew one-half of the second capital prize of $10,000. Mrs. Eliza M'Grain, also of New York city (by Adams express), drew one half of the third prize of $5000, and Mr. Wm. Matthews, of Mt. Vernon, Westchester county, New York, drew a similar amount, and each one only paid one dollar. Why, it is almost makes a person determine at once to write to M. A. Danphin, No. 319 Broadway, New York city, or same person at New Orleans, Louisiana, for the particulars of the next drawing on The bale will no doubt bring a good price, as Falmer, Barton & Co. generally get the best the market will afford, whether for first or last bales. The Mississippi and Tennessee railroad brought the cotton to Memphis free
